State Candidate will Attend

December Breakfast

The next Trumbull County Republican Party breakfast will feature State Representative Jim Trakas (District 17) who is running for Secretary of State in the 2006 primary. Trakas is a four-term state representative from Independence in Cuyahoga County. He has served in the Ohio General Assembly since 1998, where he previously served as House Majority Whip.

The breakfast will take place Saturday, December 10 in the “downstairs” level of the Mocha House on High Street in Warren at 9:00am. All friends are encouraged to attend this important breakfast... BRING A FRIEND!

Christmas- GOP Style

Join us for the annual Christmas party, Monday December 19 at the Buckeye Club in Downtown Warren. Price is $20.

Soros, Liberals Lose Again

Ohioans stood up against an assault on the integrity of our elections and won! The voters have a right to keep the politicians accountable, and they defended that right. The fight against these issues has energized our party and motivated our base. They enabled us to continue building our grassroots organization and we are better prepared for the 2006 statewide election because of it.

Our campaign was truly a grassroots effort by Ohioans who care about their state and their government. There was a national campaign of liberal activists.

This victory proves yet again that the Republican Party is still the party of good government and reform, and Democrats continue to be the party of protest and pessimism.

Plain Dealer Gives Jeers to Marc Dann

What the Cleveland Plain Dealer had to Say About our State Senator and his Double Standards

JEERS to Marc Dann, Democratic Ohio senator and attorney general candidate, for his failure to report receiving $182 worth of gifts - the same kind of behavior for which Dann went after Republican Gov. Bob Taft with such gusto. Dann's omissions don't begin to compare with Taft's in either frequency or value, but his horse has proved a little too high. (November 18, 2005)
